Chamber of Advocates Regulations (Arrangements for Examinations on the Laws of the State of Israel, Professional Ethics Applying to Foreign Advocates and Practical Subject), 5723 – 1962

By the authority vested in me by sections 110, 26(2) and 39 of the Chamber of Advocates Law, 5721 – 1061, I hereby enact the following Regulations:

Chapter 1: The Chamber's examinations on the laws of the State of Israel

Dates of examinations on the laws of the State of Israel

1. (a) The Chamber's examinations on the laws of the State of Israel (hereinafter the examinations) shall be held under the Chamber's auspices at least twice a year and on such dates as shall be determined.

Regulations 5749 - 1989

- (b) A notice regarding the examination dates, their venue and the languages in which they shall be held shall be announced in the Official Gazette.

Proof of eligibility to sit the examination

2. A person wishing to take the examinations shall attach to his application under section 4 of the Chamber of Advocates Rules (Knowledge of the Hebrew Language, and Fees for Examinations in Hebrew, the Laws of the State of Israel and Professional Ethics Applying to Foreign Lawyers and Practical Subjects), 5722-1962, documents which prove that he satisfied the conditions stipulated in section 25(2) or (3) of the Law.

Written or oral examination

3. (a) The examinations shall be in writing, although the Chamber may in special circumstances permit an examinee, at his request, to take all or some of the examinations in a verbal format.

(b) The written examination shall be of 3 hours duration.

(c) The examinations shall be in Hebrew, although the Chamber may permit an examinee or a category of examinees, to answer the questions in a foreign language, provided that they pay the cost of translating their answers into Hebrew as the Chamber shall determine.

Regulations 5749 - 1989

(d) The Chamber may decide to hold examinations on a given date or in a certain place in a foreign language.

Regulations 5749 - 1989

(e) A person who has proved that he has adequate knowledge of the Hebrew language, as he must do in order to be registered as a trainee under section 2 of the Chamber of Advocates Rules (Knowledge of the Hebrew Language, and Fees for Examinations in Hebrew, the Laws of the State of Israel and Professional Ethics Applying to Foreign Lawyers and Practical Subjects), 5722-1962, may not be examined in a foreign language.

The subjects of the examinations

Regulations 5759 - 1998

4. (a) The examinations shall be based on the following subjects:

- (1) Laws of obligations, employment law and social insurance;
- (2) Property law;
- (3) Family and succession law;
- (4) Criminal law and criminal procedure;
- (5) Commercial law "A" (corporations);
- (6) Commercial law "B" (bankruptcy, liquidation, bills of exchange, taxes and other commercial subjects);
- (7) Civil procedure and professional ethics;
- (8) Constitutional and administrative law.

(b) The laws on which the candidates shall be examined in each subject shall be the versions of those listed in the Schedule which were in force 30 days before the examination, unless they had been repealed before then.

Each examination to cover at least two subjects

5. (a) A candidate may be examined on all the subjects listed in section 4 in one sitting, or divide them between several sittings, provided that as long as he has not been examined on more than one subject, each such sitting shall include at least two subjects.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), the Chamber permit a candidate to be examined at a sitting on one subject only, should it consider it appropriate to do so having regard to the candidate's military service.

Exemption

Regulations 5725 - 1965

6. (a) The Chamber may exempt a candidate who holds a law degree from a foreign institution from being examined on a particular subject, if it determines that the laws on that subject which were covered by an examination which he passed as set by that institution are similar to those in Israel.

Regulations 5729 - 1969

(b) The Chamber may, in its discretion exempt a person who satisfies the requirements of section 25(3) of the Law from being examined on a certain subject, if it determines that the laws in the country in which that person held one of the positions referred to in that section, are similar to the laws of Israel.

Regulations 5729 - 1969

(c) The Chamber may, in its discretion, exempt from being examined on a certain subject a person who satisfies the conditions stated in section 103A of the Law.

Examiners and supervisors

7. (a) The Chamber shall appoint examiners and supervisors in relation to the examinations generally or examinations being held on a particular date or in a particular subject and may pay them such remuneration for their services as it shall determine.

- (b) Examinees must comply with the examination supervisor's instructions.

Practice regarding examination answers

- 8. (a) Each examinee shall be allocated a number which he shall write on his answer book together with the examination subject; an examinee shall not record his name on the answer book.

(b) Where an examinee uses several answer books, he shall record the details described in subsection (a) and a serial number on each of them before attaching the additional answer books to the first answer book.

(c) An examinee shall write his answers on one side of the page.

(d) An examinee shall not detach pages from the examination booklet.

Use of books

- 9. (a) The Chamber may permit examinees to use a book during the examination which contains the wording of the relevant enactments.

(b) Should permission have been given as aforesaid, the examinee shall not use any other book, list or other writing, including a commentary, remark or other recorded material apart from the text of the statute itself.

Discipline

- 10. Where he has grounds for assuming that during the examination an examinee has in his possession a book, list or writing which is prohibited under section 9, is assisting or disturbing another examinee or is not complying with his instructions, the supervisor may stop his examination and remove him from the exam room.

Penalty for breach of discipline

- 11. (a) Regardless of whether his examination was stopped and he was removed from the exam room or whether he was allowed to continue with his examination, the Chamber may prohibit an examinee who breached discipline as stated in section 10 from taking an examination on another date, whether in relation to the same subject only or in relation to other subjects, and whether generally or for a specific period of time, and may likewise disqualify any examination which he has already taken.

(b) The Chamber shall not take a decision under subsection (a) until after the examinee has been given an opportunity to voice his arguments before it or a Committee which shall be appointed for this purpose.

The examination results

12. (a) The marks which an examinee shall receive for his examination shall be determined by the examiner in his discretion and expressed as a percentage which shall not exceed 100.

(b) Where verbal examinations were held by a team of two examiners who cannot agree on the marks to be given, the opinion of the examiner who gave the higher mark shall be followed.

(c) The Chamber shall inform the examinee of his results after receiving them from the examiner.

Position of a person who failed the examination

13. (a) A person who received a grade of less than 61 percent in a subject on which he was examined shall be considered as having failed to pass the examination in that subject.

(b) An examinee who failed to reach the pass mark in a given subject may retake the examination in that subject on one of the dates determined under section 1.

(c) Where the examinee received more than 45%, the Chamber may at his request allow him to retake the examination at an earlier date than that stipulated in section 1.

Confirmation of the examination results

14. An examinee who passed the examination in all the subjects specified in section 4 or those for which he did not receive an exemption, shall be entitled to a letter from the Chamber confirming this.
